TECHNICAL SPECIFICATIONS

---

Zen Living cabinets are built to exceed industry standards for strength, precision, and long-term performance - and it starts with our box construction

CABINET CONSTRUCTION

BUILT TO STAY SQUARE FOR YEARS

- Commercial-grade materials and hardware come standard
- Thicker panels, stronger joints, smoother function

STRONGER BOX

- Stays square - reinforced with Confirmat screws and dowels
- Resists warping - thick panels and solid back support

CLEANER FINISH

- Tighter reveals - precise panel alignment for consistent gaps
- Cleaner interior - finished surfaces that look better, last longer

EASIER INSTALL

- 3/4" thick back lets you mount uppers directly to the wall
- No rails required
- Faster leveling - commercial adjustable legs
- Dialed-in fit - easy front / box adjustments for perfect alignment

FROM THE BOX UP

DOOR AND DRAWER FRONT OPTIONS

PARTICLEBOARD

An engineered product formed using waste wood products, such as sawdust, wood chips and sawmill shavings.

The product is mixed with resin adhesives, formed into a sheet and heat pressed. The product is lightweight and relatively low cost.

HDF

An engineered composite product made up of small wood fibres from soft and hardwood. These are mixed with resin adhesive and hot pressed to form a board.

HDF has a smooth finish with no wood grains making it easy to paint and cut. It is a stronger and more dense material than particleboard.

PLYWOOD

An engineered product made up of multiple sheets of veneer. The sheets are bonded and pressed together using adhesive to create one sheet. There are different grades and thickness of plywood dependent on the thickness and process used to compact during manufacturing.

Plywood is a very sturdy material that is adaptable to different types of construction from flooring to cabinetry.
